TOP: A modern interpretation of Cape Dutch architecture, this Palm Beach home is defined by its clean lines and symmetry, H-shape, and external wooden shutters that punctuate the white-stucco facade.

Creating a lifestyle not just a home, one talented interior designer brings refined European luxury and a fresh new vibe to Palm Beach.

With interior designer Andrea Huainigg at its helm, H-Interior Design studio based in Palm Beach, Fla., and Lake Wörthersee, Austria, specializes in luxury residential projects that reflect a timeless and elegant European design approach often referred to as Feminine Purism. Her contemporary stylings reflect her strong European heritage having lived in Italy and Austria for most of her life.

Bringing a fresh design approach to Palm Beach, H-Interior Design and Beacon Construction Group collaborated on this Cape Dutch-inspired home suffused with refinement. "I love the fanciful Cape Dutch style," the designer says. "Its naïveté is infectious." Though the style is indeed simple, it is complex in its scale and finishes. To achieve the desired aura of a relaxed "beauty by the beach," the designer chose spacious windows to give the interiors a warm, airy feel with an abundance of light. "We wanted to be able to see the sky and horizons," she says. Huainigg and her dedicated team created a chic and collected interior scheme supported by one-of-a-kind European furnishings and vintage objets d'art.

Inspired by a desire to design lifestyles, Huainigg, with a business partner and friend, created COMO Palm Beach. Both a new concept store and interior design studio on Palm Beach's Royal Poinciana Way, COMO offers a globally sourced, curated collection, as well as design and lifestyle services.
